High School Bonds OK Urged; $1.20 Per Year Cost Cited

Al Marshall, chairman of he Citizens for High School Bonds Committee, submitted to the Governing Board of the Grossmont Union High School District a list of recommendations for the specific projects to be funded by bonds to be voted on April 18. The report was prepared by a group of more than 200 citizens representing the eight regular high schools of the District, the special education programs, and the adult schools.

Marshall said great difficulties were experienced by the committee in reducing needed projects to the two million dollar figure allowable under the proposed bond issue. The committee reported that many projects other than the ones it chose, need funding.

Final Report

The final report lists three types of projects: new classrooms needed because of growing enrollments, maintenance projects growing out of heavy student use over many years, and upgrading of facilities made necessary because of changes in education, mainly science and library collections.

Earlier, Marshall had reported that voters will determine whether schools of the Grossmont Union High School District will face double sessions, mass boundary changes, extended days or approve a bond issue as a solution to critical classroom shortages, Marshall said.

The bond issue would be for $2 million. Its passage would raise the present .392 levy per $100 assessed valuation to not more than .425, proponents say. The legal maximum is 45c.

Thus the home owner whose home has a market value of $20,000 would notice an annual increase of about $1.20 in his property tax bill.

"Passage of the bill is a must. The problem is critical. It is important that the public get the facts," Marshall bond committee chairman, said.

Bond funds are currently needed to meet rapidly growing enrollments, to remodel inadequate facilities, to undertake major maintenance programs, and to provide changes in facilities for new science, library, and vocational programs, he said.

Earmarked for top priority by the District's Governing Board are construction of classrooms, science labs and other specialized facilities, enlarging of library study areas, repair and maintenance of industrial arts and music buildings.

Maintenance Problems

Critical maintenance problems exist at six of the district's eight schools. Correction of safety hazards in the industrial arts and boys' P. E. facility at Grossmont High School are urgent.

"Bonds provided for in this issue would be sold as current bonds are retired," Dr. John T. Warburton, district superintendent, said.

"The Board will continue its policy of conservative fiscal management, "a Board spokesman said. The Board recently denied a request by a fact-finding committee to consider a tax override election.

Proponents of the April 18 bond issue election claim that delay in critical maintenance will be increasingly expensive. "Continued growth and normal depreciation of facilities make this one of the most crucial bond issues Grossmont Union High School District voters have faced," Marshall said.

FOR THE CARROLLS — Naomi Wamsley, Kathy and Jo Ann Smith, and Goldie Wolman, San Altos PTA families, bring a station wagon of clothes to the office of this newspaper for the Carroll family whose house burned earlier this month. Teachers and students made contributions. Two more wagons of material have since been delivered by the PTA group.

Burned Out Family Lauds Friendly Community

"They've got about everything they need except money," said Mrs. John Korpita, of Court St. Teresa, Catholic Daughters of America.

She and a host of other local people are volunteering aid to the Carroll family of ten children, whose home was destroyed by fire earlier this month.

The fire, which burned the two-story family home of the Robert E. Carrolls, 7479 Mt. Vernon st., Lemon Grove, forced the family to be disbursed to the homes of various neighbors. They are now living in a house at 7489 Mt. Vernon—practically next door.

Mrs. Carroll echoed Mrs. Korpita's sentiments. "We've got all we need now, but I don't know how we would have managed without so many generous people," she said Wednesday.

"We could use more drawer space—a couple of chests of drawers would be welcome—but we could get by without them. We have two washers, but both need repairs before they can be useful," she added.

Children of the Mt. Vernon school volunteered to bring needed items to school for the family. "They are doing that this week," Principal Wiley Cornelius said.

"We have gotten contributions of money and clothing," said Clara Harris, wife of the operator of the Western Auto store here. "Mayfair Market gave food and money, too," she said.

Senior Citizens of Lemon Grove provided bed clothing. Members of the L.G. Rotary club gave money and a refrigerator and a television set. The Moose Club also gathered up household articles from among its members and delivered them to the Carrolls.

"It all makes us proud to live here," Mrs. Carroll said.

Providing food, clothing, and other contributions, was the Lemon Grove Moose Lodge's way of assisting the family of Mrs. Robert Carroll, whose home, located at 7479 Mt. Vernon st., Lemon Grove, was destroyed recently by fire.

The Women of the Moose met March 21 to complete plans to form an auxiliary. The men of the lodge have submitted the names of the nominees who will be the first officers of the new organization. Election will take place at the next meeting.

The lodge is in the process of forming a Little League baseball team, under the supervision of Al Burke.

NEWCOMERS — Robert and Claudia Greggs, formerly of St. Augustine, Fla., pose with some merchandise in their new furniture store they will open next week at 7654 Broadway, Lemon Grove. Greggs, who spotted the "Best Climate on Earth" slogan on the lemon in the plaza, decided at once that Lemon Grove is where he wanted to settle. He immediately bought a home and the building which is now his store. In Florida, he was vice president of the chamber of commerce and organized a 400 acre industrial park for the chamber. His wife is noted as an interior decorator.

It is estimated that $3,000 will go into Kiwanis club coffers from the festival. The money this year will be used in a school-to-school project in which school rooms will be built in an undeveloped South American community.

The project is part of the Peace Corps Partnership program.

For 18 of those years, he has been an active member of the California Association of Public School Business Officials. His association activities include committee chairmanships and various offices in the San Diego-Imperial Section, which he served as Section President in 1960. HUD – A Way To Stop A Blight

There's a bold, new plan available for tired communities that are beginning to slip down. This area, for example.

The plan, a Federal project, is called HUD. HUD is an acronym for Housing and Urban Development Authority.

HUD says it wants to bring property up to a normal standard and it will put Federal funds on the line to do it. It is getting ready to do it now in Imperial Beach.

The idea is to take a community, or some part of it, and revitalize it by paying for most of the cost of installing sidewalks, curbs, street lights, re-aligning streets and helping owners bring their houses up to code standards.

HUD will pay two-thirds of the cost. The home owner pays the rest. He'll pay for it on a three per cent 20-year loan direct from the government.

What's more, under some circumstances, the mortgage on the home can be re-financed for up to $14,000—on the same three per cent deal.

How to qualify? A committee picks an area in which 20% or more of the structures are below the standards of the uniform building code. It could be four blocks or a 100.

Lack of sidewalks, street lighting or curbs qualify it substandard. So does lack of housepower or windows in the bathroom. Another criteria is that no more than 5% of the homes in the area should be non-repairable. These would be bought and torn down by the HUD district.

When the work is done, all homes in the HUD district will have a lifetime expectancy of at least 20 more years and there will be a new sense of pride in the area.

The cost is levied on a front foot basis. If the average home gets $900 worth of improvements, it will cost the owner $300, payable over a 20-year period; but he gets 100% of the improvement right away. His property appreciates more than the cost because the improvement is district-wide. The key to the project is the owner's knowledge that all the homes are being improved and that all the blights are being removed. Improvements to the home are charged to the property owner.

There are several steps to be taken before a HUD district can be formed. First, a citizen's committee should be formed to decide what area should get the HUD treatment. Then a blight analysis must be made. The property owners, generally, should be in agreement that the improvements should be made. Then the County Board of Supervisors

'Unreality' To Be Sunday Sermon

"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians: "The fashion of this world passeth away."

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

Thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard. (Acts 22:15)

A boy was hurrying home from school to show his mother something he had found. Along the way, he was showing it to others. I saw his beaming face and spoke to him. He said, "Do you want to see what I've found?" He quickly showed me a shining silver dollar. He was proud of his find and anxious to tell others about it.

We Christians have found a Saviour and He has forgiven our sins. We have hope for a free life both now and forevermore. This is more precious than silver or gold.

Is there any wonder that those who have made this find are anxious to tell about it? It is mighty good news to them. They know that it will be good news for others also.

Am I grateful for the saving power of Jesus Christ in my life? Am I telling others about Him and what He can do for them?

Prayer: Dear Father, how thankful we are for the sending of Jesus Christ into the world. We are grateful beyond measure that He has saved our souls. Unloose our tongues and lighten our feet that we may be witnesses for our living Lord, in whose name we pray. Amen.

Thought for the day: Knowing Jesus is too good to keep to myself.

Grover I. Chapman (Texas)

$5,000 Check Kicks Off YMCA Swimming Pool Fund

The Heartland YMCA was the recipient of a $5,000 gift to kick off its swimming pool fund Monday night at its annual meeting.

In presenting the three-foot long check for $5,000 from the La Mesa Community Welfare Association, Mrs. Zoe J. Paulsen told of the association's interest in the YMCA's plans for serving youth and families in the Heartland area.

Mrs. Paulsen, president of the association, told of its interest in character building agencies and support of the many youth groups in the La Mesa area.

Mrs. Paulsen said the association kicked off the fund drive for the La Mesa Youth Center building "to get the "Y" swimming pool fund off to a good start and it would serve as a challenge to other community groups."

Special Award

As an expression of the YMCA's appreciation, Albert Marshall, chairman of the board, presented the YMCA's 'Service to Youth Award' to the association.

Each year the "Y" recognizes one or more persons in the community for service to the "Y" and to the youth of the community. This year Commander and Mrs. Paulsen were selected as the "Y" Boosters of the Year and were presented a Big Booster plaque.

Four teenagers spoke of their particular "Y" program interests, which included the "Y" Teen Center, the San Francisco Easter Caravan and Model Legislature held in Sacramento.

The film "Come Grow With Us" was shown which depicted the program services of a typical family-centered community YMCA. This is the type of emphasis which the Heartland "Y" is moving toward, according to Executive Director Russ Bope.

New Chairman

Ray Elair, Jr., of the General Board of the San Diego YMCA, of which Heartland is a branch, installed Clarence Watters, Jr. as the new Heartland "Y" board chairman.

Blair also inducted the following to serve varying terms on the board; Mrs. Virginia Mitchell, Leroy Knutson, Clarence Watters, Jr., Robert Des Lauriers, Albert Marshall, and Bernard Lanz of La Mesa; O. L. Robertson, Leroy Booth, George Roach, Mrs. T. R. Mounts, William Gifford of El Cajon; Leslie Barr of San Diego; Gerald Hansen of Lemon Grove; John Barrons of Lakeside and Rev. Edward Garner of Santee.

Marshall was honored with the YMCA "Service to Youth" award in recognition for his three years service as chairman of the Heartland "Y" Board.

Charles Cordeil, a member of the board, was Master of Ceremonies.

Continuation of a long-term epidemiological study of respiratory disease occurance in normal males—with members of the San Diego Fire Department serving as "captive" subjects—by Dr. Homer Peabody of the Rees-Stealy Medical Research Foundation—$1,600.

Contributions of $11.375 for medical research and medical education by the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of California and the National Tuberculosis Assn., This sum represents 6½ per cent of gross Christmas Seal contributions for 1965, Doctor Rosen said.

Prison Sentence Meted L.G. Man

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Walter E. Maxted, 33, 7035 Central Ave., Lemon Grove, was sentenced to state prison for up to ten years Thursday by Superior Court Judge Gerald C. Thomas for possession of marijuana.

Maxted was to have been sentenced on Sept. 7, 1966, but failed to appear at the probation hearing after being found guilty by a jury. He was not apprehended until Dec. 29 by federal authorities in Seattle. He faces federal charges for possession and sale of marijuana and bail jumping.

Maxted was arrested at Cuyamaca and Buena Vista in Lemon Grove as he was sleeping in his car. The deputy sheriff found a bottle of pills and a bottle containing marijuna at the scene.

House Ethics Committee Sponsored By Van Deerlin

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, announced Wednesday that he is preparing legislation to establish a permanent ethics committee in the House of Representatives.

"I regret that creation of a permanent, independent watchdog committee seems necessary," said Van Deerlin, a leader in the successful campaign to keep Adam Clayton Powell from taking his House seat. "But events have shown that existing controls have not worked."

The committee Van Deerlin will recommend would be known as the "Committee on Standards of Official Conduct." Its membership would consist of six Democrats and six Republicans, appointed through normal party procedures.

Initially, the committee would investigate possible offenses under existing regulations that govern the conduct of Federal employees. The statutes, part of the U. S. Code, deal primarily with financial conflicts of interest.

The panel would be empowered to recommend the censure of any House member or employee who was found in violation of these laws.

New legislation for curbing unethical behavior by House members also would be proposed by the committee. Van Deerlin's bill would direct the committee to suggest tighter controls "as soon as practicable."

The proposed committee would concern itself exclusively with the behavior of House members and employees. The Senate already has an ethics committee of its own.

The Dimmer View

would apply to the Authority with a master plan for the area. The County Building Inspection Department will make a survey of the needs of every property in the HUD district and the citizens themselves will decide how much of the blight needs eradicating. HUD sends its crews of experts into the area to aid and guide—and before you can say "low interest," there is a new, bright facade on a tired old community, with the residents exuding a new sense of pride.

HUD people say their philosophy is simple. "We want to make the specific area decent, safe and sanitary," said one official as he visited Lemon Grove last week at the request of some of the town's leaders.

At least one person had an opinion. "I'd rather see some of my tax money here than abroad," he said.

Parkinson's Nixon Can't Win

A sticky euphoria has settled over a segment of Republican party leadership and it may keep Lyndon Johnson in the White House another term.

The idea that Republicans can best give Americans the kind of government it should have is a fine philosophy, but the belief that the White House can be recaptured by a couple of guys whose popularity is laboratory-made needs more examination before it will be swallowed as fact by the American public.

Republicans are in danger of relaxing their search for a winning presidential ticket by the early-bird announcement that Richard Nixon, a two-time loser, will probably run with Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, an El Cajon obstetrician "who brought unity to the Republican Party in California", riding shotgun.

They are dishing Parkinson up as the pot of sassafras tea that cured all the GOP's California ailments—but just like sassafras tea, Parkinson didn't cure anything. Democrats in office in California for two or more terms had become so arrogant of the people's wishes and so liberal with the people's tax money that Mao Tse-tung could have sponsored a Republican candidate and won.

Dick Nixon can do nothing to change the abrasive label clinging to his image. His apologists say that he comes over poorly in public, but that he is personally a nice, sweet guy.

Well, he ain't.

He is waspish and supercilious. He gives his interviewer the impression that he is destined to lead the country and that he resents those who question his right to this end.

This facet of his character was exhibited on world-wide television when he accused the press of having the responsibility of his election downfall. Parkinson is about as unapproachable as Nixon, in spite of the picture of warm, personal leadership they say he has given to his party in California.

He is perhaps warm in his relationship with the top echelon, but there are those who accuse him of being aloof to the rank and file party members.

Yet, it is public image that counts. Few voters get to know the personal characteristics of the people who run their government. The theory that Parkinson's reputation for pulling together diverse elements of the party into a homogenous mass is vital to a candidate who has caused the electorate to be uncertain about his leadership. In theory, if not in practice, a pair such as this on a unity dream boat, could influence the members of the national convention.

No matter who the convention's choice is, the candidate must have more than an ersatz image of warmness.

If Nixon develops such loveliness under Parkinson's direction it'll be the greatest performance since "East Lynn" — and it'll be about as real as a three-dollar bill.

MAIL BAG

Dear Editor:

I am writing you on behalf of our school and music department to thank the community for the hosting of the Southern California Junior High Honor Band.

This group of nearly one-hundred musicians from throughout the southern part of the state was housed in our community for a four day period. Parents of our community opened their homes, provided lodging, transportation and many meals during this event.

Harry Weisgerber, the director of the Honor Band, was selected because of his many years of producing outstanding musical groups at Lemon Grove Junior High School.

The Board of Trustee of the Lemon Grove School District made available the facilities and services of the schools for rehearsals. Your newspaper provided excellent coverage of the event.

The local Taco Bell restaurant, managed by Ray Baksh and Al Kennerly, provided a free meal to all participants during their stay. The Sea World Corporation cooperated in providing entertainment for the group at a reduced rate. The Lemon Grove Music Parents, led by President Melvin Woodward, provided the necessary manpower for orgaization and supervision.

The culminating concert at Mission Bay High School, Sunday, was attended by over seven-hundred persons.

All in all, it was a wonderful experience for a fine group of boys and girls—a truly fine gift from a community that "cares".

Sincerely,
Robert E. Sutton
Principal
Lemon Grove Junior High School

Chargers Sign 3 Draft Choices

For the first time since the 1962 draft, the San Diego Chargers have signed their number 1-2-3 draft choices.

The Chargers announced March 25 that they have signed linebacker Ron McCall of Weber State, their second draft choice, and offensive tackle Harold Akin of Oklahoma State, number three. Sid Gillman, the Chargers' General Manager-Head Coach previously had signed defensive lineman Ron Billingsley of Wyoming, the club's number one draft pick this year.

McCall has been called by many the "top linebacker in the country." He is a 22-year old prospect who is rated a solid bet by pro football experts. Ron is quick with great mobility for a youngster who stands 6-1½ and weighs in at 240. He was the outstanding defensive player in the annual East-West Shrine game in San Francisco. McCall is single and a business major at Weber State, which is located at Ogden, Utah.

Akin, who is expected to tip the scales at 270 pounds when he takes the field this summer, is a "top-drawer prospect," according to Gillman. The 6-5½, 22-year old tackle is a highly-rated offensive line can who "loves to hit." Akin is maried and a student in the OSU School of Business.

Training Series Is Longest For Giants, Indians

SAN DIEGO — When the San Francisco Giants and Cleveland Indians meet in a pair of exhibition games at San Diego's Westgate Park, April 1 and 2, they will be continuing a spring training rivalry which dates back to 1934—the longest pre-season collaboration in the majors.

The Indians opened the spring series with a 5-4 win at Tucson, then lost a 7-4 decision to the Giants at Phoenix.

In their next two meetings, the Giants edged the Indians, 3-2, in ten innings, but the American League club tied up the series at two-all with a 6-2 win in their fourth outing together.

Hardison's Telespanish

Notice that the word "calendario" (calendar) is easy to remember because of its similarity in spelling to the related English word. The pronunciation is quite different.

The first syllable is "ca" and pronounced "kah." The second syllable is "len," pronounced "lehn." Word stress is given to the next syllable so it must be heard louder than the others as "DAHR" and the "ri" is pronounced "rhee," the "o" pronounced "oh." Together they are sounded "kah-lehn-DAHR-rhee-oh.'

There are "doce meses" (twelve months) in each year. They begin with "enero, febrero, marzo, abril . . ." First letter in the names of the month are not capitalized as in English.

Word for "month" is "mes." The plural form for month is made by adding "es," thus "meses." Each month has at least 28 'dias" (days).

Expressions in today's lesson use some of the above words. Test yourself to see if you have learned them correctly by dialing 276-2762 on your home telephone. A two minute recording will pronounce the same words and expressions. A pause will be provided after each word and expression during which you are invited to practice saying them. You may call as often as you wish until you have mastered the phrases.

IMPORTANT EXPRESSION

Say "Que dia es?" (keh DEE-ah ehs)
for "What is today?"
Say "Hoy es viernes." (OH ee ehs vee-EHR-nehs)

Night College Students Not Considered Full Time By IRS

Parents furnishing more than half their child's support may be able to claim him as a dependent even though the child had income of $600 or more during the year and is required to file his own tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The Revenue Service explained, however, that to qualify the child must not have reached his 19th birthday by Jan. 1, 1967, or if he has reached 19, he must have been a full-time student during some part of each of five calendar months in 1966.

A child is not considered to be a full-time student if he attends night school or is taking a correspondence or an employee training course.

These rules apply only to the taxpayer's own child, stepchild, legally adopted child or a child placed with him by an authorized placement agency for legal adoption. Any other child, whether or not related, may not be claimed as a dependent if he has gross income of $600 or more, regardless of his age or his status as a student.

In determining whether more than one-half of the child's support was provided by the parents, the amount of support provided is compared with the entire support which the child received from all sources, including support providing by the child's own funds.

A child who has $600 or more gross income is required to file an income tax return like any other taxpayer. He claims his own exemption on his return, even though he may also qualify as a dependent on his parents' return.

Document No. 5013, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a post card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 300 North Los Angeles st., Los Angeles, Calif. 90012.

S.D. County Hospital Committee Announces Wage And Salary Hike

Frank E. Rice, president of the Hospital Council of San Diego County, announced recently that the wage and salary recommendations of that group's Compensation Committee were accepted by hospital administrators. Such recommendations are subject to implementation by each hospital's board of trustees.

The recommendations include proposed rate ranges for all non-supervisory and supervisory positions in the local hospitals, effective July 1, and represent a substantial increase over the recommendations of Sept. 1, 1966. This will bring the minimum starting salary for an experienced registered nurse to $570 a month.

Compensation Committee

The study of the Compensation Committee, which was accepted March 22, is part of the reviews which the Committee has been conducting since 1962. It takes into consideration compensation and fringe benefits being paid in comparable industries in San Diego County as well as those in other areas of the state, and the cost of living index.

The Committee recently conducted a survey throughout the state which served as a guide for the current salary proposals. San Francisco and Los Angeles hospitals have announced comparable increases to be effective April 1.

The Compensation Committee is a study group composed of Administrators, Assistant Administrators, Controllers and Personnel Directors of various hospitals in San Diego County. In addition, a special committee of Directors of Nursing Service met with the Compensation Committee to discuss recommendations regarding compensation for nursing personnel.

Charges Increased

Preliminary studies at several of the major hospitals in the area indicate that daily hospital charges will have to be increased up to $3 to $5.50 a patient day to provide revenue necessary to accommodate the increased costs of salaries and other items purchased by the hospital which have increased approximately 10 per cent.

These items include food equipment, supplies, etc. This will not necessarily all be included in the daily service charge (room and board) but may be spread to ancillary charges as well. Rice pointed out that in today's hospital the wage and salary costs represent approximately 70 percent of the total expenditures.

WHAT'S THIS? — It was an unusual morning at Rancher's Market one day last week when the butcher tried to interest the produce man in some bananas raised by the butcher. Jack Lee, produce manager for Ranchers, Broadway and Massachusetts, examines, gingerly, the few bananas remaining on the stalk while Bob Mincks, owner of Bob's Butcher Shops, and Gene Eminger, butcher shop manager looks on. The banana tree grows at the rear of building used as an office by Bob's. The stalk started to mature earlier this year and Bob's meat cutters have been eating them regularly.
